Christian City Youth - The Art of Dying to Self +

31/3/2005

It's been two years since CCC Youth released their last album 'Run with You'. April 2005 and their back with a new album 'No longer I' and a new name Christian City Youth. FRESHradio's Andrew Morris caught up with Christian City Youth worship leader Nikki Fletcher.

AM: Congratulations on the new album, how are you feeling about it?

NF: Thank you... we're really excited about this new album, we've been working on it for a while now. Our Goal was to capture what we were doing in our services and amongst our worship team the last couple of years. And I feel like we've done that.

AM: Has the line up of the band changed much since the last recording?

NF: We have a few of the same faces that have grown up and matured a little more like myself and few of the other guys, Joe Pringle and Amy Buckle. We've also got a few new additions as well.

AM: How would you describe the new album 'No Longer I'?

NF: It's gotta alot of energy and passion, a very strong message, its really polished, but still got a raw passion and message. Its a really fun record.

AM: Tell us about the title track No Longer I and the young guy who wrote it?

NF: The guy who wrote its name is Dan Korocz, we call him Danny K and he's one of the key worship leaders in our team. He sings the song No Longer I on the album. All of us have been through the process of letting ourselves die. I know that sounds a little funny, basically letting go of our own lives and really hanging onto Jesus. And that scripture, Its no longer I that lives but Christ that lives in me, has been the theme that's been running through our spirit.

AM: Do you think this album takes Christian City Youth to a new level?

NF: I hope so...I don't want to rave about what we're doing, but at the same time I'm really passionate and I feel like what's on this album carries God in a whole new way.

AM: Is God still Relevant?

NF: I think Jesus is the only answer and I think young people are desperate for truth. I think they've got everything, they've had everything, they've got money, excellence,access to whatever they want and the world has everything to offer except for the truth and what really matters. It is the most relevant and important thing.

AM: What is the Phenonema Conference all about?

NF: Phenonema will be the most incredible conference this year. We have Chris Hill coming from the USA to preach, we're launching our new album 'No Longer I' and we're filming a DVD one night. It's
